We are a team of two freelance translators with 16 years of experience offering the unique service of mother tongue English, mother tongue French translations, one of us being born in London and the other in Lyon, France.

This combination gives our team a perfect understanding of the original text, as well as great accuracy and style in both languages so the final text reads as though it were written in the target language, without the awkwardness that often betrays a translation.

What do we translate?

- Tourist guides, websites, etc.
- Academic papers
- Marketing surveys and documents
- Presentations for cosmetic brands

What are our areas of expertise?
