Life

As part of my education and artistic endeavours I live abroad for most of the year. Among the cities in which I lived for a substantial period of time are Rio de Janeiro, São Paulo, Cairo, Jerusalem and Mexico City.

In these places I developed an artistic form of research and journalism that values physical experience and the personal role of the traveller over objective analysis.

In theatre I mostly work with self-written plays. Due to this experience as a writer I dare to assume I have got a fluent and precise way of dealing with my native tongue.

I have developed my linguistic skills in the course of these theatrical and artistic practices.
