David M. Rosenfeld
1320 Olivia Avenue
Ann Arbor, MI 48104
Tel: (734) 635-4457
davidmrosenfeld@gmail.com

Education

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI: M.S. in Archives and Records Management, 2011

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI: Ph.D., Modern Japanese Literature, 1999

Stanford University, Stanford, CA: M.A., East Asian Studies, 1991

Harvard College, Cambridge, MA: A.B., cum laude, American History and Literature, 1986

Experience

Freelance Japanese Translator, 1997-present. Areas of specialization: automotive, chemical industry/waste disposal; political/military.

Staff Assistant, Asian Division, Library of Congress. Worked on digitization project at LC commissioned by National Diet Library (Japan). Assessed and prepared collections for digitization, participated in project planning meetings.

Graduate Assistant, Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR), University of Michigan, May-July 2010. Researched legal issues related to digital preservation for ongoing national workshop series.

Research Assistant, University of Michigan Press, September 2009-April 2010. Helped to design and conduct project to assess impact of online access on sales of Press titles.

Assistant Archivist, Bentley Historical Library, May-Aug 2009. Organized historical collections of personal papers and university records and wrote finding aids (collection descriptions).

Consultant, Bell & Howell Information and Learning, University of Michigan Center for Japanese Studies, others, 1999-present.Various research, analysis and writing projects, including interviewing and online and library research.

University Instructor, University of Michigan, Stanford University, various periods, 1990-2002. Japanese language and culture, Asian Studies, Classics.

Research Analyst, United States Congress, Office of Technology Assessment, April 1992-July 1993

Staff Writer, The Daily Yomiuri, (English-language edition of The Yomiuri Shimbun), Tokyo, April 1988-June 1990