Translator with over 6 years of experience working with companies, nonprofits and book authors to ensure that their material is translated in a timely and professional way. My goal as translator in any project is to understand the projects and people I work with, open and foster communication during the translation process and the finished product, as well as educate clients on the process so that there is a healthy relationship between translator and client. I am always interested in collaborating with new clients to meet their translation needs while getting the personalized attention they deserve.
