

Ernesto Pavan – Curriculum Vitae

Personal profile

- Competent translator and proofreader from English to Italian. My specialized fields are literary, gaming, advertising and culinary, but I can work in most non-technical fields.
- I consider myself an honest, sincere person. I never leave anything unsaid. I believe that good communication between freelancer and client is the best way to reach objectives.
- I'm a curious person who loves reading and learning. When I'm not translating or writing, I enjoy gaming and reading

Experience

- I have been working since late 2011 as a contract translator for an US-based publisher. I translated 27 novels so far, 13 of which have already been published.
- I currently work as a freelance translator for self-published authors (www.indiebooktranslations.com), but I'm available for all sorts of interesting work
- I both wrote and translated various ads and advertorials.
- I write translation-related articles on Smartling.com (<http://www.smartling.com/blog/>).
- I'm a published fiction writer in English
