

Israel Amrani

ivrith@gmail.com

Tel. +972-58-4704040

Naham 100, Naham, Israel 99801

Journalist, Writer, Translator, Editor

Fully bilingual Hebrew and English

Employment

2000-Present

Israel. Self-employed writer, translator, editor and business development manager. Work include writing in Hebrew and English and editing in Hebrew. Translating to both languages; copyediting a trade online magazine; translating ISBN 0230618979 for St. Martin's Press; many other works.

1991-2000

Sausalito, CA. Ha'aretz's West-Coast correspondent; free-lance writer for Mother Jones, Sierra Magazine, The Progressive and major European newspapers and magazines; translator Hebrew-English for clients in the U.S. and Israel. Interpreter in off-court legal proceedings and insurance claims hearings; text expert on financial markets, law, civil engineering, medicine, insurance; more

1985-1995

Editor and writer, Ha'aretz, Tel Aviv. News editor, feature writer, chief copy editor, chief business news editor, editor-in-chief, Kan Darom of Ha'aretz Group, writer at large; more

1981-1984

Reporter, The Jerusalem Post. Reporter on the police beat, then the Ministry of Justice and East Jerusalem affairs.

1979-1981. Filmmaker, Bureau of Audio Visual Instruction, U. of Wisconsin – Extension

Education

1981. Bachelor of Journalism, University of Wisconsin – Madison

1972-1975. Bar Ilan University, Ramat Gan, Israel, psychology studies

References are available upon request.