

Dear Sir/Madam,

Let me take the opportunity to give you a brief introduction of OXFORD International Ltd, a company which might be of assistance in your investments and projects.

OXFORD International Language School Ltd (hereinafter OXFORD) has been operating in Hungary since 2003. We provide language instruction, translation and interpreting services for our partners.

The quality of the services that we provide to our partners is guaranteed by the fact that we are working with over 100 highly qualified and reliable interpreters, professional translators and language instructors. When performing interpretation services, we promote fast and efficient communication between the parent company abroad and the subsidiary company in Hungary, working with simultaneous-, native language-, and engineer translators (both in Hungary and abroad), while providing professional technical background as well. Translation of documents regarding manufacturing processes, machines, and production lines, is performed at the highest standard by professional translators – including bilingual translators as per request –, and native language speaker proofreaders.

We are aware of and happy to satisfy the typical needs of our business partners, and we are ready to find solutions to any new situations that might arise. We methodize and run training courses in companies (training needs assessment, level testing, training counselling), as well as translation and interpretation services. Our administration is conducted in a professional, accurate and reliable way.

László Fazekas

László Fazekas
Managing Director