My name is Ignacio Reyes. Born in 1974 and resident in Marbella / Spain. I have conducted an extended professional career in journalism and other areas in the field of communications. Over the years I had the chance to work in press, radio and televisión, even to run my own business as a TV producer. As a child I was lucky to study in international schools, where I learned English. It is my second language. I must admit, though, that my education and experience in journalism has always been conducted in Spanish, but I also believe that I can be a valious asset to anyone who is looking for an experienced, skilled Spanish writer and speaker, highly qualified for translation form English to Spanish..
