

Bc. Dominik Šandor

About me

I have been dedicated to the English language since my youth. I am captivated by English literature and linguistics, as well as translation and interpretation. I spent nearly 4 years working as an instructor at a language school, and currently, I am engaged in the field of lecturing, translation and interpretation of English language as a self-employed entrepreneur. I have experience in interpreting for MFK Ružomberok at press conferences during international matches. I have been organizing foreign concerts connected with interpretation and translation services for the P.P. Gojdič Choir for many years. I have also translated various technical manuals for companies. Currently, I am collaborating on a project focused on translating religious texts and songs for the Church of Bright Light in the USA.

Hobbies and free time: In my free time, I engage in musical and literary pursuits. I have completed my studies at the second level of the School of Performing Arts, specializing in piano performance. I am dedicated to choral singing, as well as cultivating and processing chili peppers. During the winter, I have a fondness for snowboarding and skiing.
