

Objective

A committed, hardworking, and driven young woman with a sound of understanding, organizing and planning skills to deliver assignments within set timeframes and to a high quality standard. I'm aware of what my major requires and I have different background knowledge.

I have the ability to learn things fast even if they do not associate with my major though I do not have enough experience so I'm looking forward to learn, work, give and achieve so I could gain a good experience and knowledge to benefit the place I'm working for and myself as well.
