About me

As a skilled translator, writer, columnist, proofreader and former English teacher, I'm passionate about languages, expression and communication. Being a gifted person, I'm also oriented towards detail and excellence in work – always. When we are talking about translations, it is my goal to bring not only quality, fidelity and accuracy, but aesthetic beauty and depth to the project. I'm happy when my clients are happy.

I authored the book "Rasgados" and co-authored the book "Poetes", a poetry collection produced by a community of gifted people from all over Brazil; I am also the creator of a revolutionary approach to communication which I apply to translation and proofreading projects: Transformative Communication by Nina Carvalho.
