SUMMARY

My years as an author has through working with editors at some of Norway's largest publishers (Cappelen Damm and Aschehoug), provided extensive experience and precision within writing and text shaping. As a script writer of fiction and documentary projects for film and TV, I have also written presentations, project descriptions, pitches, and marketing material for several production companies, both in Norwegian and English.

As a freelance translator I have worked with subtitling fiction (feature films and TV-series), and copywriting, business documents, contracts, marketing materials, and literature. Via the company Pixelogic, I'm currently subtitling The Simpsons, Family Guy, Bob's Burgers, Star Trek Strange New Worlds, Star Wars Visions, Star Wars Young Jedi Adventures, Star Wars The Bad Batch, Abbott Elementary, and Big Sky, for streaming on Disney+, Netflix, etc.

Working as a literary agent provided experience with international contracts work, working with international clients and companies, and making presentations and marketing material. I have also published e-books for international and Norwegian authors via my own publishing company.
