Translation Workshop

At our Translation Workshop we write various types of texts and perform Polish-English and English-Polish translations. We specialise in guidebook and map translations, and therefore the subjects of nature, landscape, architecture, history, tourism and outdoor pursuits.

One of our flagship translations is a book entitled Traveller Warsaw, which was published both by Thomas Cook Publishing and Hachette Livre Poland in 2006. We work for the Samotnia Refuge Mountain School and the Karkonosze Mountain Rescue Service, and write and translate texts for all firms or institutions dealing with regional promotion and the development of local products.

Our second field of expertise is medical texts, particularly on the subjects of nursing, midwifery, rescue medicine, health economics and health and medicine related subjects.

We offer graphic design, printing and binding, and have extensive experience in production of website text. We also possess a library of hundreds of photographs taken in Wroclaw, the Sudety Mountains and other parts of our region.
