Quality in time

Services

AD VERBUM Ltd is a localization agency specializing in technical translations, multilingual documentation and software localization. AD VERBUM Ltd is known to provide full-cycle localization service for clients around the world. We are known for always keeping to the main objective of our work, i.e. the constant maintenance of our high quality service. As we have been stating always - the result of our work is what represents AD VERBUM Ltd the best.

As mentioned before, we specialize in technical/information technology translations. Our familiar subject domains include office equipment, telecommunications, software, computer hardware, engineering, automotive, pharmaceutical, banking, finance, legal and other specific localization projects of almost any scope. We are also highly experienced translators and interpreters of European Union related subjects.

Originally established as a company specializing in projects targeted for the Baltic market, we have earned the confidence of our clients to entrust us also with projects from/into other Eastern European languages. For information about the languages we work with and our experience in the specific subjects, please contact our Project Managers, who will help you with your specific needs. Because of our extensive experience in the market, location in the Eastern Europe and highly organized project management team, we can offer highly competitive rates for your project.

For all project we use CAT tools – the most efficient and convenient way of localizing any product. Technology has helped us develop steady relationship with numerous clients who entrust us with maintaining their Translation Memory and Terminology needs to the highest localization market standard. Our Project Management team will assure that your localization costs are turned into an asset.

Our way

Management

We understand the importance of a precise management for any project. Each project we do is treated individually – taking into account the specific needs of the customer. Every translation project is managed from start to finish according to these needs, hence achieving the necessary results in all aspects. Maintenance of High Quality is the most important reason why we are a market leader and why our clients can be assured of investing in the right outsourcer. However, as we have seen in the past, the means of achieving our high quality can differ from project to project; therefore, the approach towards each client is made with an utmost forethoughtfulness and care. No standard procedures will be taken on our behalf, to scale down the potential of a client's product.

Translators

We work only with professional and native speakers of the languages they work in. All our translators live in the respective countries, thus bringing the necessary cultural background to any project we're entrusted with. Each linguist is accessible to our management team in timely fashion, thus providing we do not lose any time on delivering the projects. Our translators usually specialize in one of numerous fields, such as technical, IT, legal, medical and others.

Technical capability

Our technical potential provides us with capability to handle projects of any technical complexity, be it full localization of a software product or a short notice to employees of a particular company branch in a particular country. We can work directly with any desktop-publishing files and xml management formats and we can deal with various file formats and word processor style files. We are also always pleased to advise our clients on preferable localization platforms for their needs.
