Education

Graduated in 2007 from the School of Philosophy, Literature and Humanities at the University of São Paulo (FFLCH-USP) as a Bachelor in History. Several optional courses attended at the Languages and Literature departments.

Attended the University of Brasília (UnB) in 2009 as an undergraduate Translation Studies (English) student; left for professional reasons, after one semester.

Work experience

---

From July 2010 to September 2012, worked at the Brazilian Foreign Ministry as a diplomat. Served in the Divisions for South Asia and for Brazilians Abroad and at the Consular Department.

In 2014 I translated into Brazilian Portuguese the book Montessori, Dewey and Capitalism, by Jerry Kirkpatrick (Claremont, CA: TLJ Books, 2008) – ISBN 978-0978780333. Soon to be published by Bunker Editorial (www.bunkereditorial.com.br).

In 2015 I translated the film 101 Reasons: Liberty Lives in New Hampshire, a documentary about the Free State Project. The film is available to watch at www.youtube.com/watch?v=PVVMIngRExA.

Intended translation roles

Translation pairs: English to and from Portuguese.

Language skills:

- fluent English – from the USP Business School Language Center.

Expertise: most commonly translated fields as a freelancer are medical, contracts,

Internet. Also some work on environment and user manuals.

Further knowledge

Computer literacy – General Internet usage, MS Windows and Ubuntu Linux Oss, office suite (LibreOffice.org suite, MS Office-compatible), translation memory software (OmegaT, .TMX compatible).

Basic Accounting – enrolled at the University of São Paulo since 2014 (enrollment suspended for the first semester of 2015 as I seek other pursuits, such as translation).

As an extra, I might mention being a language buff: I have studied not only French, German, Hebrew, Italian and Spanish, but also Chinese – at the Foreign Service Institute – and Classical Greek and Latin while in college!
